PREPARE SUBFLOOR

Your subfloor is a fundamental component of your new floor.

- Insufficient or poorly installed subfloor can lead to future failure problems including, but not limited to: gapping, buckling as well as potential warranty issues.
- The amount of subfloor preparation (or "prep") needed is determined by existing imperfections on your floor.
- Concerns can be classified as:
 - Light (usually resolved in less installation)
 - Moderate
 - Severe
- The prep cost for resolving these imperfections can range from $0.75 - $1.25/SQ FT.
- Subfloor prep requirements can be determined both after your measure is completed and before your installation takes place.

Proceed with the flooring installation. Once your subfloor is clean, dry, flat, and structurally stable.

*Note: Your subflooring options will be discussed with you when you are presented with your quote.

The Measurement Visit

PROCESSES: 0123
 PURPOSE / REASON: 3 is an error to verify your home during and after the installation of wood new floor coverings. Make sure that adequate power, light, ventilation, level or an condition will be available 48 hours before and during the installation. Installation site must remain in a temperature of 60 degrees before and during installation.
 REMAINS OF EXISTING FLOORCOVERINGS: If you have selected to not have the installation remove your existing carpet or flooring, you must have this done before installation. Expect minor knock up spalling to be needed after the installation. Normal installation methods may require a self leveling floor underlayment. The installer will use whatever is available to indicate this. Home Depot installers may not be able to find every old floor covering to cover before or before into the "Warranty Confirmation" section of this document for your information.
 CLEAR UP: The installer will make a post-installation inspection with you to verify your complete satisfaction. After the installation they will pick up all waste materials. Any materials will be placed in your yard, where you request. (Disposal fees are the responsibility of the customer.)
 If possible, customer who professional installation should be present at the time of installation, with through after the installation has been completed and express any concerns of that time to the installer. This will prevent conflicts that may inconvenience you.
 COMMENTS: We always appreciate your business and thank you for your purchase. Within two days after your installation a Home Depot representative may call you to verify that you are pleased with your new floorcovering. If you have any questions, please contact:
