Install Facts & News

$139 Whole-Home Carpet Install drives value

On January 8, The Home Depot launched another great value for customers with the $139 whole house carpet installation price. The new price reflects a 30 percent drop, which has only a few exceptions for "Glue- Down" and F&I 72-hour installations. The Home Depot led the industry last year with its introduction of a $199 price, beating the competition to the punch on low prices and great values. And, the $139 installation is easier for customers, associates and installers to understand. "These are the sorts of program enhancements we must continue to develop in response to the current economic conditions and customer needs," said Thom Dickson, Services flooring NIM. "As the world's number one seller and installer of carpet, it only makes sense that you would see such a deal coming from The Home Depot first."
